Lacy Parasol

Like many rose administrators Mary Frick turned to breeding roses. One rose being registered and commercialised is Lacy Parasol. As pretty as its name suggests soft, clear pink with a cream base and lighter reverse. Petals open into slightly cupped blooms to reveal red stamens. A sweet fragrance of fruit and honey. Producing cluster of 5 or 6 and also singles as it repeat flowers throughout the seasons. A strong, arching Australian bred rose perfect for a cottage gardens. In South Australia the rose has had success on the show bench. Available-Melville Roses'n'Gardens
