“Brindabella Pride” (GRAppl) is a modern shrub rose bred by Silvia and John Gray with fully double purple flowers that have a very strong, damask rose fragrance – all that you could ever wish for in a rose. It has a multi branching habit and flowers are held in small clusters with individual flowers being 7.5-10 cm in diameter. The bush grows vigorously to just 1.2m tall and wide on average and flowers repeat all season long in flushes every 6 weeks or so. However, it's standout trait, as demonstrated by the win in ARTS is it's excellent resistance to blackspot and mildew.
